Copthorne Hotel Cameron Highlands Rebranded

Perched at the peak of the highlands, Copthorne Hotel Cameron Highlands offers a spectacular view of the valley.

From 1 January 2014, Equatorial Cameron Highlands will be rebranded as Copthorne Hotel Cameron Highlands. Spread across 13 acres, the Tudor-styled resort offers 141 attractive, self-contained low rise apartment suites, as well as 268 superior rooms, deluxe rooms and suites in the hotel tower - all with breathtaking views of the surrounding highlands.

With its vast grounds and extensive recreational facilities, the Copthorne Hotel Cameron Highlands is a popular choice for company incentive trips, and as a meetings and conference venue. The hotel also arranges trips to the "Orang Asli" settlement for guests interested in learning about the indigenous people of Malaysia. There are other day trips to nearby tourist attractions.

The current team at Copthorne Hotel Cameron Highlands will continue in their existing roles so guests are assured of a smooth transition during the rebrand.

CDL Hospitality Trusts To Acquire Its Second Maldives Property, Jumeirah Dhevanafushi

CDL Hospitality Trusts (CDLHT) is expanding its portfolio with the proposed acquisition of Jumeirah Dhevanafushi, its second property in the Maldives. Located on the private island of Meradhoo at the southern edge of the Maldives archipelago, the 53,576 square metres luxury resort, to be purchased for US$59.6 million, comprises 19 beachfront villas and 16 over-water villas, with two additional beachfront villas slated for completion in 2014. The resort's extremely spacious villas are amongst the largest in the Maldives, with villa sizes averaging 240 square metres, each complete with its own private pool. The luxurious beachfront villas occupy the main island of Meradhoo and located some 800 metres away are the resort's 16 over-water villas, which boast high 6.3-metre ceilings that showcase all-round pristine views of the environment and provide complete privacy to guests.

Jumeirah Dhevanafushi offers a whole host of facilities, including four food and beverage outlets, an over-water gym, yoga platform, two infinity edge pools, a library, gift shop and the award-winning Talise Spa. In addition, its dive centre and water sports centre provide guests with a wide array of activity choices, including diving, snorkelling, sailing, kayaking, canoeing and windsurfing.

Mr Vincent Yeo, CEO of M&C REIT Management Limited and M&C Business Trust Management Limited, the managers of CDLHT, said, "We believe that the Maldives will continue to benefit from the increased patronage of Asian travellers with a rapidly rising level of disposable income for leisure travel. Our second Maldives resort acquisition following that of the successful acquisition of Angsana Velavaru is the execution of our strategy to capitalise on this trend and on the strong demand for Maldives generally."

Amidst a buoyant hospitality sector in the Maldives, Jumeirah Dhevanafushi has benefitted from the increase in Chinese and Russian visitorship, with the two countries forming the Property's top two source markets and likely to be key drivers of its performance.

"We are pleased to be able to secure a new, top quality asset with asset enhancement potential," added Mr Yeo. Besides the two beachfront villas currently under construction, further asset enhancement and expansion opportunities include the potential fitting-out and conversion of an existing partially completed structure and the conversion of unutilised spaces into income-generating facilities to the likes of a spa and/or bar. Post-acquisition, the resort will continue to be operated by the Dubai-based global luxury hospitality player, Jumeirah Group. Offering a unique brand proposition, Jumeirah Dhevanafushi caters to the very top end of the upmarket resort sector in the Maldives. Notwithstanding that the Property is still undergoing gestation, given its luxury positioning, it has achieved a healthy RevPAR of US$754 for the first nine months of 2013. Based on the purchase price, the resort's pro-forma annualised net property income yield for the nine months ended 30 September 2013 would be 6.2 per cent. This translates to a Distribution per Stapled Security (DPS) accretion of 2.2 per cent, with potential for upside having opened only on 1 November 2011. New resort hotels generally require a period of gestation to allow the base of business to be progressively built up and property awareness propagated. This will mark CDLHT's second acquisition in the Maldives this year, following its US$72.4 million purchase of Angsana Velavaru resort in January.

Sculpting A Creative Legacy

The biennial CDL Singapore Sculpture Award is the first and only nation-wide sculpture competition. Since the first Award was held in 2003, CDL has commissioned and unveiled a total of six full-sized public sculptures by local artists. Its latest artwork, "All the Essentially Essential", a 3-metre tall interactive sculpture, by artist/educator Tan Wee Lit, was recently unveiled at Raffles Place Park

In creating his winning piece, Wee Lit was intent on creating a sculpture that extends a visual experience into an experiential one. The extensive array of items on the cast giant toy kit represents all the material needs of the well-organised but "packed-to-the-brim" lives of Singaporeans. The deliberate exclusion of the human element from the entire kit set reminds one that the fabric of life is never complete without the most important thing: people, and the spirit and aspirations that they embody. The piece engages viewers by allowing them to see themselves in the artwork, and completing it – by being a part of it.

"As a homegrown developer, we have always recognised the important role we can play to shape our built environment and landscape, going beyond buildings. Our sustained support for the sculptural art form has not just provided platforms for exposure for budding young artists and sculptors, but has also contributed to increasing the number of local artworks in the public domain. We hope that the display of these public sculptures will help further inspire local creative talent and enrich Singapore's cultural legacy," said Mr Kwek Leng Joo, CDL Managing Director.

Triple Honours for CDL

As testament to its green building leadership and conviction to responsible business practices, CDL added three more feathers to its cap last December.

Eco-Green Outstanding Leadership Award at the Asia Responsible Corporate Awards – the highest tier of the Singapore's Built Environment Industry (BEI) Asia Awards

Inaugural winner of the Best Sustainability Practice category at the IR Magazine Awards – South East Asia 2013

Best Sustainability Report in Singapore at The National Center for Sustainability Reporting's (NCSR) 9th Indonesia Sustainability Reporting Awards.

The Eco-Green Outstanding Leadership Award acknowledges companies who have demonstrated excellence in establishing successful businesses while engaging in best business practices such as Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) through sustainable efforts.

Since the mid-1990s, CDL was determined to change the perception of the building sector, which was then seen as "destroying before constructing". CDL was committed to transforming its business strategy to one that "conserves as it constructs" for long-term sustainability.

Over the two decades, CDL has been championing the development of green building in Singapore from design, construction, procurement, maintenance and even stakeholder engagement – from suppliers to customers and investors. The entire life cycle of CDL's buildings is essentially aligned with environmental sustainability in mind, while the Company's success and achievements are measured based on the triple bottom line approach of People, Planet and Profits.

The IR Magazine Awards honour South East Asian companies and individuals that do the best job of communicating with investors and analysts, and are decided solely by an independent survey of investors and analysts located in the region. Underpinning the awards is the IR Magazine Investor Perception Study – Asia 2013/2014 where 370 buy-side and sell-side analysts and portfolio managers participated in surveys and interviews to identify the best current exponents of IR in Asia today, and to analyse their success and best practices. The inclusion of the new "Best Sustainability Practice" category in the Awards reflects the increasing importance investors are placing on companies to maintain a balanced triple bottom line.

CDL is also a firm believer in the importance of sustainability reporting. Since 2004, it has been incorporating a concise CSR report into its Annual Report, with the objective of reaching out to investors and sharing the Company's CSR efforts. With substantive data, in 2008, CDL issued a dedicated Sustainability Report, which was the first Global Reporting Initiative (GRI)-checked report published by a Singapore company. It attained a Level A+-checked report in 2012 – a first for a Singapore-listed company – which was maintained in 2013.

As an affirmation of its efforts, for two consecutive years, CDL won the Best Sustainability Report 2011 and 2012 from Singapore accorded by NCSR, a non-profit organisation based in Indonesia which honours organisations that publish and develop sustainability reports centred on the GRI Framework.

Grand Millennium Kuala Lumpur launched its annual "Star for A Child" Campaign and Christmas tree lighting ceremony on 5 December 2013. The event was officiated by Ambassador of Finland, Matti Pullinen and was made even more memorable with the rendition of Christmas carols by children of Garden International School.

City Sunshine Club Spreads Year-end Cheer And Goodwill

In keeping with its mission of lighting up the lives of the less fortunate, City Sunshine Club (CSC) helped spread early yuletide joy to beneficiaries who live in blocks 3 and 4 of Marsiling Road. These two blocks were adopted by CDL as part of its participation in a year-long programme called the North West Care & Repair @ Marsiling, to bring about regular engagements for the residents.

In partnership with the North West Community Development Council, CDL volunteers helped to organise a Christmas celebration at CDL's City Square Mall, where over 130 elderly and children together with their parents from the Marsiling rental blocks participated. The event was graced by Guest-of-Honour Mr Hawazi Daipi, Member of Parliament for Sembawang GRC (Marsiling).

The residents enjoyed a sumptuous dinner, a magic show and ballet performances, and received goody bags. The evening ended on a magical note with an open-top HiPPo bus ride that enabled them to take in the festive sights of the Christmas light-up.

Beneficiaries were presented with presents by Guest-of-Honour Mr Hawazi Daipi (fourth from left), Member of Parliament for Sembawang GRC (Marsiling), accompanied by Ms Esther An (centre), General Manager, Corporate Affairs and Head, Corporate Social Responsibility, CDL.

As a highlight of its Character Building Programme, CSC organised its annual year-end camp, with a sleepover at C-Base, CDL's staff activity lounge located at City House, CDL's operational headquarters in the Central Business District.

About 54 CDL staff volunteers and beneficiaries (aged between 7 to 13 years old) attended the camp. The beneficiaries come from two family service centres: Serangoon Student Care Centre/Family Service Centre and Viriya Family Service Centre.

The camp was tied to 'TOUCH Movie Nite' where CDL sponsored movie tickets to treat the children to a screening of Walt Disney's "Frozen", in advance of the movie's worldwide release. After the movie, the children hopped on to the HiPPO bus for an exciting tour of the annual Orchard Road festive light-up. A morning walk from City House to Marina Bay Sands was planned but unfortunately, it could not materialise due to rain. The children were occupied with alternative activities such as quizzes and games which they took part in with great zeal and fun.

This 683-room hotel, with its Spanish-Italian Renaissance interiors, delicately detailed carvings and stunning cathedral-like ceilings, was designated a historic and cultural monument in 1969. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science held its founding banquet in the Crystal Ballroom in 1927. Eight Academy Awards banquets were subsequently held in the hotel in the 1930s, with legends like Clark Gable and Ginger Rogers accepting their awards on the Biltmore stage. 2. Hudson Theatre, Millennium Broadway Hotel, USA (formerly The Macklowe New York)

The dramatic history of New York City's 1903 landmark Hudson Theatre begins with Henry B. Harris, an up-and-coming producer who built the theatre but later perished aboard the Titanic. Developer Harry Macklowe incorporated the theatre into a hotel and conference centre (which later became the Millennium Broadway Hotel) he built next door and opened in 1989. This 109-year-old historic landmark, a deco masterpiece decorated with priceless Tiffany mosaics, is the second oldest theatre in New York, where stars such as Barbara Streisand and Louis Armstrong made their debuts and Elvis Presley performed.

4. Millennium Hotel London Mayfair, UK

The Millennium Hotel London Mayfair was formerly a magnificent 18th century mansion, primarily built as a Stately Townhouse for the Duchess of Kendal. The hotel site is where the first public announcement of Wellington's victory at the Battle of Waterloo was made. With its Georgian façade and classic Doric columns, it imparts the discreet charm and comfort of an exclusive private residence, making it one of the most distinct hotels in all of Mayfair.

5. Millennium Bailey's Hotel London Kensington, UK

As one of the oldest existing hotels in London, the Millennium Bailey's Hotel boasts a fascinating history which dates back to 1876 and includes the remarkable achievement of its original owner, the Right Honourable Sir James Bailey. Built in a time when there were few hotels in London, the hotel was considered very modern for its time. In 1885, the advertisements bragged of an "ascending room" (a lift), a "safe room" (a safe) and bathrooms on every floor of the hotel, all of which were very unusual at the time. The hotel survived the two world wars and has amazingly maintained much of its original structure, with its imposing marble pillars, grand staircase, stained glass windows and sumptuous Victorian plasterwork. It has also welcomed many prominent guests such as the Austrian composer Eduard Strauss,

6. Millennium Hotel Paris Opera, France

The Millennium Hotel Paris Opera opened in 1927. The hotel was created in the style of Années Folles ("Crazy Years") by architects who were given free reign to combine the Belle Epoque, Beaux Arts and Art Déco styles. The main hall of this 163-room hotel has retained many features, including elaborate marble, wood and brass carving, art deco furniture, tinted mirrors and magnificent pillars. It is topped with a cupola, lit through a roof of glass, adorned with gold and yellow motifs. American aviator Charles Lindbergh, who had completed his first solo flight across the Atlantic and was awarded the prestigious Carnegie prize, was a guest at the hotel.
